

NOTES ON CONTRIBUTORS

Amanda Hodgson, who wrote her Ph.D. on Morris at the University of Sheffield, is the author of The Romances of William Morris (1987).

Ady Mineo is an Associate Professor of English at the Institute Universitario Orientale in Naples, and participated in the conference there on News from Nowhere in 1990; she is currently researching on Morris's utopian romances.

Nicholas Salmon is currently working towards the completion of a Ph.D. at the University of Reading on Morris's political vision; he won the Peter Floud Prize in 1990/91.

Ray Watkinson is the President of the Society; his most recent book, written with Teresa Newman, is reviewed in this issue.

Edward and Ruth Frow are well known for their extensive work on the bibliography of Socialism.

Bernard Myers is a member of the Society who lives in Hammersmith and takes a keen interest in the locality as well as in Morris.

Stephen Coleman, the Reviews Editor, teaches the History of Ideas; the reviewers are well-known members of the Society and contributors to The Journal, with a newcomer in Kerima Mohideen, a school-teacher in Hackney who studied Art History at Leicester University.